QUESTION 1: PRÉCIS

Content: 10
Coherence: 4 (-½ per error)
Language: 4 (-½ per error)
Words: 1 (95–105 words is acceptable)
Heading: 1 (Any suitable heading)

- Criminals target their victims during holidays as they tend to be more relaxed.
- People also have more money to spend.
- Criminals normally approach their victims as they enter the PIN.
- Criminals will distract you to either steal or swop your card.
- In the confusion, they will go to another ATM and withdraw funds.
- Banks find it difficult to prevent this fraud as the customer's card and PIN is used.
- Customers are advised to be careful.
- Help from strangers should be refused.
- Cancel transactions if you are distracted.
- Contact your bank immediately.
- It is important to check if the holiday accommodation actually exists.
- Negotiate a smaller deposit to minimise your losses.
- If you have been scammed, report it to the police.
- It's often impossible to get your money back, however you will be able to protect other possible victims.
- With identity theft someone else assumes your identity and pretends to be you.
- This type of crime affects the majority of South African businesses.
- Criminals are able to alter an ID document and use it to buy things on credit or take loans.
- Sometimes criminals use documents that have been thrown away to commit fraud.
