QUESTION 3: INTERVIEWING

- 3.1 3.1.1 Persuasive interview. The purpose is to persuade someone to change his/her opinion or behaviour. Example – the disciplinary interview.
- 3.1.2 Informative interview. The purpose is to provide, gain or exchange information. Example – the job interview. (2 × 3) (6)
- 3.2 3.2.1 Don't be too early for your interview. This may make you feel and look nervous. Never be late for the interview – it will cost you the job before you have even been interviewed. Make sure of the time of the interview and the exact address of the company. Plan to arrive for the interview with about five minutes to spare.

MANAGEMENT COMMUNICATION N4
(Second Paper)

- 3.2.2 Always look straight at the interviewer as you would at a friend. Maintaining eye contact is important for the following reasons:
- Your voice will be projected in the direction in which are looking. This will make it easier for the interviewer to hear what you are saying.
 - It will keep the interviewer's attention on what you are saying.
 - You will receive constant feedback.

- 3.2.3 Your posture will convey your attitude.
Be aware of how you sit, stand or walk.
When you sit, do not slouch, look too relaxed or lean your arms on the interviewer's desk. Sit up straight with your hands on your lap.
Stand straight up with your shoulders square and your hands hanging comfortably at your side.
Do not lean against anything.
